A modern and luxurious villa with a pool and garden is currently under construction in a peaceful suburb plot of 548 m² in the city of Poreč. The villa will have a net area of 233 m² and span over three levels: the ground floor, an attic, and outdoor spaces.

The ground floor will feature a spacious living room with large glass walls, a kitchen, and a dining room leading to a generous terrace, a 32 m² pool, and a garden. A multipurpose room, initially designed for a sauna and gym, can alternatively serve as an additional bedroom. A separate toilet for guests and a technical room will also be included on this floor.

Internal stairs will lead to the first floor, consisting of three bedrooms, each with a balcony and en-suite bathroom. The attic will house a large terrace of 77 m², a sauna, and an area designated for a summer kitchen with storage. The terrace will include a hydromassage tub and deckchairs for ultimate relaxation, offering a stunning view of the surrounding nature, olive groves, and vineyards.

The villa will be equipped with floor heating using a heat pump, while air
